

Emeritus Professor Geoff Scott

Western Sydney University National Senior Teaching Fellow (Australia)

EVENING SEMINAR

Monday 18th January (6.00pm – 7.30pm)
Europa Point Campus, University of Gibraltar

‘How do Universities ensure that quality graduates meet the needs of a rapidly changing 21st century’

The University of Gibraltar is delighted to be hosting Prof Geoff Scott from Western Sydney University, as part of an international seminar series.

Higher education students graduate into a volatile and rapidly changing world. Prof Scott will lead a seminar exploring how higher education institutions can equip and support graduates to keep pace with the rapidly changing needs of the 21st century. It reports on the outcomes of an international project that has involved some 2600 learning and teaching leaders from around the world.

The intention of the project and the guide is to ensure that higher education providers can optimise the quality and calibre of graduates across a range of professions and disciplines and maximise their potential both in the workplace and through the course of their careers.

Prof Scott is Emeritus Professor of Higher Education and Sustainability at Western Sydney University (WSU), Australia. He was Pro Vice-Chancellor (Quality) and has been co-chair of the Sustainable Futures Leadership Academy helping to establish RCE-Greater Western Sydney.

He has recently completed an international project on Turnaround Leadership for Sustainability in Higher Education with Daniella Tilbury, Leith Sharp and Liz Deane and a project with Kerri-Lee Krause and senior colleagues from 11 Australian universities on Inter-university moderation and the assurance of higher education standards. In 2008 he led the Australian Learning and Teaching Council study of Learning Leaders in Times of Change in partnership with ACER.
